This is a respect to the global user community facing problems with operating system, applications or hardware.